Power Outage at Sackville Street, Ingleburn

Australian Rail Track Corporation (ARTC) is currently constructing a high voltage underline crossing at the corner of Ingleburn Road and Sackville Street. A power outage will be implemented within the rail corridor from 7am on Saturday 10 September 2011 for a period of 10 hours as part of these works. Please note that residential power will not be affected by these works.

The equipment to be used will include a bucket truck, site vehicles and powered and non-powered hand tools.

Barriers and temporary fencing will remain in place around these works. Traffic controls will be in place to manage vehicle and pedestrian movements during construction.

We appreciate your patience while we build this important project for Sydney and NSW.
