Construction works from Leightonfield to Carramar and at Villawood

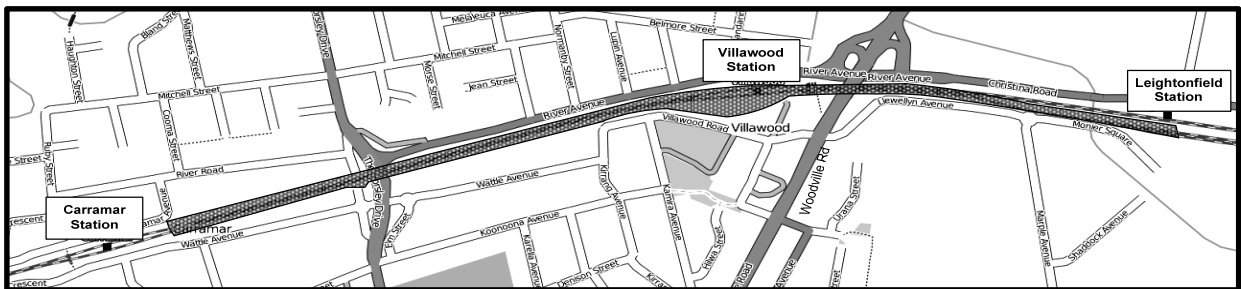

Australian Rail Track Corporation (ARTC) will be undertaking high voltage construction work within the rail corridor from Leightonfield Station to Carramar Station, and at the Horsley Drive Liverpool. This work must be undertaken outside of normal construction hours when the power is out, because there are safety risks involved with working in close proximity to the overhead wires and tracks.

Leightonfield Station to Carramar Station – 1 October to 24 December 2011

It is anticipated that construction work will be undertaken from 7am to 6pm on Saturday and from 8am to 6pm on Sunday up to four weekends between 1 October and 24 December 2011.

The work will include the replacement of power poles and associated aerial works along the rail corridor. The equipment used will include a non-destructive digging truck, pole truck, two elevated work platforms, a franner crane, and powered and non-powered hand tools.

Affected residents will be notified in due time prior to the confirmation of these works.

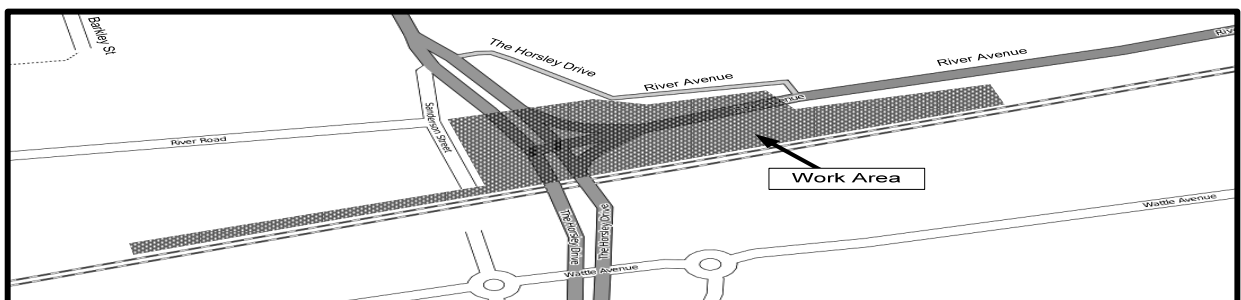

The Horsley Drive, Villawood – 8 October to 24 December 2011

It is anticipated that construction work will be undertaken over the Horsley Drive and Woodville Road between 5am to 8am on two consecutive weekends between 8 October and 24 December 2011. This section of work will be undertaken early in the morning before peak hours and 15 minute road closures will be in place whilst the works are being undertaken. Traffic controls will be in place during this time to manage vehicular and pedestrian movements.

The work will include cabling work which is part of the power pole works from Leightonfield to Carramar. The equipment will include a sucker truck, pole truck, two elevated work platforms, a franna crane, traffic control truck and non-powered hand tools.

Affected residents will be notified in due time prior to the confirmation of these works.

We appreciate your patience while we build this important project for Sydney and NSW.
